ANOTHER THREE-GENERATION FAMILY OF RIDLEY

An Age Of Consent

"There was a time when the choice of the school depended entirely on the opinion of the parent. Today, the voice of the pupil is heard in the land. Perhaps he himself will choose the school that he thinks offers those aspects of education which suit his interests and his ambitions."

T. Cronyn,
New Ridley College Prospectus.

Very few students join Ridley these days unless they have positively agreed to do so. Indeed, we are likely to refuse a student, if we suspect he is being 'deposited' by his parents. This has a major bearing upon the relationship of the School and the student.

From the beginning, emphasis is laid upon the concept of membership. The Rules of Membership (a seven-point code, which you will find on page 2) are shown to applicants of the Upper School. The parallel is drawn to application for membership in a club, with its own by-laws and regulations. The acceptance of the Rules of Membership is quoted back at students, in the event of future difficulties. In some cases, a written pledge is required before a student may return to school perhaps after a disciplinary confrontation or a highly unsatisfactory academic report. So the feeling of a contract, between student and school, is consciously fostered. This is certainly an age of consent so far as membership is concerned. Yet the sharpening of this moment of decision is essential if the School is subsequently to exercise authority over its members.

Consenting to be a member of Ridley College is not just a statement of good intention. It is also an undertaking to accept the compulsory requirements, either routine or occasional, imposed by the School. By comparison with a High School, these requirements are enormous; but they are intrinsic, of course, to the continuing spirit of participation which characterizes Ridley. It is a part also of the initial undertaking that a student will support some of the voluntary activities which are also available. Those which require the discipline of group practice (such as music or drama) impose an obligation of attendance, once a student has chosen to participate. All this applies as much to a Day Student (boy or girl) as it does to a Boarder. The best of these see precious little of their homes; and they really do grasp the idea that they are a part of a residential entity.

In academic terms, the principle of consent is also incorporated, though with considerable caution. From grade 6 through to the end of grade 10, the school continues to impose a combination of subjects which the vast majority of students undertake in toto. This is because we believe in the continuing validity of a general education in the traditional range of academic disciplines. But a gradual process of selection and specialization does take place in the final three years at Ridley. In grade 11, a group of core subjects is required; but a choice of emphasis is permitted. In grade 12, the opportunity for choice and specialization becomes wider; and in grade 13, the only limitations are the range of subjects available and the desirability, for College qualification, of the combination of subjects selected. Formal procedures have to be followed if a student wishes to change a course after he has embarked upon it. Suitability, continuity and perseverance are the virtues to be expected of the student throughout his academic development; enlightened guidance and a maximum flexibility of organization by the School are the reciprocal obligations. Although all this represents a change from the policies of the past, it also implies a firm stand against the wilder ramifications of the credit system. (See page 5).

In the granting of freedoms, such as leaves, a conscious effort is made to differentiate between the responsible and the irresponsible. This involves a continual reference to the idea of Good Standing. If one is in Good Standing, both academically and socially, he or she is entitled these days to a greater degree of freedom. For example, a student in grade 11, if he is in good standing, may take 5 movie leaves in the Michaelmas term, of which 3 may be overnights. But the School does not hesitate to impose restrictions upon those who jeopardize or lose their Good Standing. The intention obviously is to penalize the feckless. In the past, there was a tendency to penalize the virtuous, in order to exercise restraint over the remainder. So the disciplinary system is increasingly less codified, and more particular in its application. Naturally there are certain issues, such as the inculcating of respect for property, which are closer to the prudent hearts of the faculty than to the cheerful exuberance of the student body. So long as there is confidence in the essential justice of the School's decisions in such matters, this approach to freedom and restraint is welcomed by the majority of the student body.

The Old Boys system continues to operate, but within the framework of a less hierarchical School. It has relevance in two directions. First, it serves to initiate a newcomer quickly into the detailed mysteries of Ridley life and lore, and second, it generates a sense of belonging, which is a valuable part of School spirit. It is of course a system administered at the student level, though the Prefects discuss its operation fully with the Headmaster.

This is inevitably an inadequate summary of a policy which is highly complex in application. We try to formulate this policy with one eye on the contemporary scene, and the other on the great traditions of the School. It would be unrealistic to be preparing students for a world that no longer exists. Yet it would be entirely counter to the cherished identity of Ridley, to abdicate responsibility by allowing the school to become 'liberty hall'.

Richard A. Bradley.

Rules of Membership In Ridley College

Members of Ridley College are expected to accept and uphold the following Rules of Membership:

- (a) To maintain the highest standards of personal honesty and truthfulness.
- (b) To work to their highest capability.
- (c) To act always with a sense of responsibility towards the interests of other people and the community.
- (d) To offer help to other people, especially visitors to the School.
- (e) To know and observe the School Regulations, and accept the compulsory requirements of the School.
- (f) To give support to as many School activities as possible.
- (g) To remember, at all times, that the School may be judged by the bearing of its individual members.

R. Ian Craik (74) receiving his Duke of Edinburgh Gold Award from the Queen Mother in Toronto last June.

Enrolment Up

Last year the trend of lower enrolment in the School that began in 1970, and has been of tremendous concern to the Board and Staff because of mounting operational deficits, was reversed.

This year your School is full. We have 112 Boarders and 74 Day Boys in the Lower School for a total of 186. The highest ever. In the Upper School there are 248 Boarders, 36 Day Boys and 14 Day Girls for a total of 298. Overall, 484 students, an all time high.

The School is budgeting for a small surplus on operating costs this year. Fees range from $1950 for a Day Boy in the Lower School (including the noon meal) to $4000 for a Boarder in the Upper School.

At last count we have 69 students at the School who are sons or grandsons of Old Boys.

There are 339 boys and girls from Ontario and 30 boys representing all nine of the other provinces for a total Canadian population of 369.

Other countries, represented by 115 students, are in numerical order:

U.S.A.	35	Sweden	2
Mexico	24	West Germany	2
Hong Kong	13	Barbados	1
Bahamas	8	Brazil	1
Venezuela	8	Dominica	1
Jamaica	5	East Malaysia	1
Bermuda	5	Japan	1
Guatemala	4	Turkey	1
Nigeria	3

The Board Of Governors

As is usual, the Board's activities tend to slow down somewhat during the summer months, although certain committees have been keeping busy in preparation for the next series of meetings over the fall and winter months. Prior to the summer recess a number of items were reported to the members of the Board which are worth mentioning.

In keeping with a long standing tradition, the past Chairman of the Board will have his portrait painted and hung in the Great Hall. This painting is now underway and we look forward to the results. Incidentally, Mr. Stevens has recommended that the practice of hanging the portraits of past chairmen not be continued. This undoubtedly will be subject to discussion at future meetings. I think we can recall Winston Churchill's comment when his portrait was painted, the results of which gave him very little personal pleasure, as he said . . . "this is a fine example of modern art".

The long awaited Prospectus is now available. It is a great improvement over what we had before, sporting five colours, up-to-date photographs and articulate copy. It tells the story of our School in a very forthright manner.

Mr. Alec Jacobs, the Chairman of the Long Range Planning Committee, is putting together the report of his committee on recruitment, the summer hockey school, the business operation of the School and the ten year economic plan for the School. We will report on the results of these findings in the next issue of Tiger.

Staff Notes

While many of the masters were enjoying vacations in the far-flung corners of the earth or simply lazing in the summer sun some of their colleagues were pursuing advanced degrees or engaging in activities of a military nature.

Mr. Hugh Molson, of the Social Science department, on leave from Ridley from Christmas to June, achieved notable distinction in acquiring two degrees: Master in Library Science from the School of Library and Information Science at the University of Western Ontario and a Master of Education degree from the Department of Educational Administration at OISE.

Mr. Lowell Scott, of the Mathematics and Science Department, finished his doctoral thesis during the summer and is to make his defense of it at the University of Waterloo this term.

Messrs. Paul Lewis, David Cosgrove and Frank Hollinrake attended Officers' Training Camp at Wolseley Barracks, London, and have been commissioned Lieutenants in the Canadian Forces Reserves. They will be assisting in the instruction of the Cadet Corps.

Mr. Ross Morrow, of the English Department, as Chairman of Programmes for Ontario Youtheatre toured the province looking at summer theatrical undertakings sponsored by the Youtheatre board. In addition he attended executive meetings of the Conference of Secondary School English Department Chairmen held in Stratford, Conn. He is to be a speaker at the CSSEDC annual convention in New Orleans in November.

Mr. Gordon D. McLeod (ex-staff) was awarded the degree of Ph.D. in English at the spring convocation of the University of Manitoba.

Mr. Benson A. Wilson (ex-staff) has been appointed assistant deputy minister, University Affairs Division, in the Ministry of Colleges and Universities of the province of Ontario. He will be responsible for the development and administration of government policies with respect to Ontario's universities. The ministry's policy development, student affairs, financial analysis, and university information branches are under his jurisdiction.

C. Robert A. Wood (74) after receiving his Duke of Edinburgh Gold Award from the Queen Mother.

Newcomers - Upper School Staff

Mrs. Ruth M. Burlingame, R.N. has taken up the duties of School Nurse in the Upper School. Mrs. Burlingame took her training at The Mack School of Nursing and has been employed at the St. Catharines General Hospital.

Mr. Robert H. Eadie, B.A. (Hon.), Trinity College, University of Toronto. Mr. Eadie will be teaching Latin and History and will be residing in Arthur Bishop House.

Mr. Karl W. Schweizer, M.A., University of Waterloo and Cambridge University, England. Mr. Schweizer will teach Geography at the Grade 12 and 13 levels and he and his wife, Elizabeth, will be living just off campus at 19 Rebecca Street. Mr. David T. Gagné, B.A., University of Toronto. Mr. Gagné will be teaching French and he and his wife, Susan, will be residing in the north apartment above the Schmon Infirmary.

Mr. David T. Gagné, B.A., University of Toronto. Mr. Gagné will be teaching French and he and his wife, Susan, will be residing in the north apartment above the Schmon Infirmary.

Mr. A. Dennis Glazebrook, M.Sc., University of Saskatchewan. Mr. Glazebrook will teach Mathematics from Grade 9 through to Grade 13 and he and his wife, Janet, will be living in Merritt House.

Lower School Staff

Mr. Arthur D. Brain, B.A., Trinity College, University of Toronto. Prior to his retirement and moving to St. Catharines, Mr. Brain was Assistant Headmaster at Ashbury College, Ottawa. He will be teaching Drama.

Mr. Peter G. Clarke is a graduate of Stowe School, Buckingham, England. Mr. Clarke will be living at the School as an Assistant Junior Master and assisting in games and shooting.

Mr. Lawrence W. C. Desautels, Jr., B.A., M.A., State University of New York. Mr. Desautels worked for one year as Counsel to the Legislature of New York State. Mr. Desautels will be teaching English and he and his wife Lucie will be living in St. Catharines.

Miss Deanna Eftoda, R.N., Grey Nuns School of Nursing, Regina, Sask. Before being appointed Lower School Nurse, Miss Eftoda worked at the McMaster University Medical Centre.

Mr. Pierre L. Gagné B.A., (Hon.) and B. Ed., University of Windsor, Ontario. Mr. Gagné will be teaching French and Latin. He and his wife Janis are residing in the Lower School.

Mr. Andrew R. Rahn has been appointed Assistant Director of Music. He studied piano at the University of Toronto and at the Royal Conservatory of Music. Prior to coming to Ridley he was resident musician for the Toronto Dance Theatre. He and his wife Yvonne are living in the Lower School.

Graduate Boat Club

The Ridley Graduate Boat Club, founded two years ago, became an incorporated body last spring. It is now a member of the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen.

As of September 8th, the National and Graduate Coach Neil Campbell and his elite eight enhanced the prestige of Canadian rowing at the International level from nothing in 1970 to 10th best in the world and only 8 seconds off the winning crew (United States) at the 4th World Rowing Championships held in Lucerne, Switzerland.

This crew which averaged over 200 lbs. with a median age of 22 was boated as: Paul Szczucinski (72), Ross MacLachlan (73), Fraser Mackay (73), Dirk Gidney (72), Guenther Quast, Phil Monckton, Mike Neary, captain Brian Love (71) and coxie Wayne Henderson.

The straight four graduate crew was not as fortunate in its attempt to match the skill, stamina and strength of the elite eight in its bid to represent Canada at Lucerne. And it certainly wasn't a difference in training methods, attitude or coaching. The four crew members of Owen Crassweller (73), Scott Dorland (73), Larry Cooper (73), and Hans Braul (73) will try again next year.

Three of our undergraduate crew members, Willie Stewart, Rob MacLachlan and Chris Porter along with Rob Dick of the St. Catharines Rowing Club represented Canada in the World Youth Championships at Ratzburg, West Germany in early August, rowing as a straight four. They were ninth overall in the Championships. All three boys are back again this year.

Bob Rumble, another member of our undergraduate crew represented Canada in the Senior Lightweight eight. He rowed under the St. Catharines Rowing Club colours at the World Championships at Lucerne as well. Bob is returning for one more year of rowing as an undergraduate.

Four more of last year's undergraduate crew, Rich Reid, Mike Pos, Sean Thetford and coxie Bobby Walker represented Ontario at the National Youth Championships held in Burnaby Lake, B.C. last July but were beaten by Brentwood who qualified as the National Youth eight representative at Ratzburg. Unfortunately, Brentwood's time over the 1500 metre course was not fast enough to compete in Germany.

The Ridley Graduate Boat Club eight, as they passed the finish line after winning the Canadian Championship at Lake Burnaby, B.C. on 12 August.

The remaining member of our summer oarsmen, Rob Thom (74), rowed for the St. Catharines Rowing Club as a member of their 150 lb. coxed four crew. They won their division at the Canadian Championships at Burnaby Lake, B.C. However, this class was not rowed at the World Championships at Lucerne, so they did not get a trip to Switzerland.

Marriages

Ian S. MACLAREN (70) on 10 August, 1974 in London, Ontario, to Miss Margaret Eileen Gordon.

S. Craig SCOTT (61) on 31 May, 1974 in London, Ontario to Miss Catherine Louise Fisher, daughter of R. James Fisher (46).

Robert P. SEAGRAM (59) on 18 June, 1974 in Beamsville, Ontario, to Miss Judith M. Copeland.

The Ontario Credit System

The Ontario Ministry of Education awards two Diplomas. The first one at the end of grade 12 requires the completion of 27 credits over a four year period. There are certain restrictions imposed upon the choice of subjects, for example, four English courses must be taken, at least two Canadian Studies courses, three Mathematics or Science courses, etc. The second Diploma is awarded for six grade 13 level credits. A credit involves one period per day at the subject throughout one school year.

While the Ontario Credit System is based on the pursuit of the two Diplomas, University admissions are based on obtaining good marks in the correct choice of subjects over the final three years of Secondary School.

Students, who come from outside the Province part way through their Secondary School education, are set appropriate requirements to obtain their Diplomas. For example, a student entering grade 11 must obtain 13 credits here in order to qualify for the first Diploma.

The introduction of the credit system has not produced much change at the grade 13 level, except that all subjects are now considered equal; unlike the old days when French was treated as two subjects and Physics only one subject. Six grade 13 courses have now become the normal programme for a student's final year at School. While much experimentation has taken place in course content at the grade 13 level, very few completely new subjects have been introduced. We offer two History courses (one Canadian, one American) rather than offering just one History course and we have introduced new subjects like Economics.

It is below the grade 13 level that the credit system has made the greatest change. Before it was introduced the grade 12 Diploma was awarded on the results of the grade 12 year plus few subjects from grade 11. With the credit system all subjects from grades 9 to 12 contribute to the Diploma. One great advantage of the credit system, for the weaker student, is that, if he is experiencing difficulty with a subject at the grade 11 level, he can switch to a new subject in grade 12. This possibility has resulted in a raising of the standard in many subjects because the weaker students select alternative ones.

Also the fact that 'non-continuing' subjects could be failed in grade 9 or 10 without penalty, used to lower the standard in these subjects. Now the student knows from the start of the year that if he really doesn't try at any subject then he will have one less credit towards his Diploma. In the credit system the marks awarded for a subject are not influenced by the student's other marks. With the old system most students with a 60% average had failing marks converted to passes.

Another change brought about by the credit system is that all students no longer take almost the same subjects. Each student's choice of subjects is almost unique, based on his own aptitude and interests as well as the requirements for his future studies. In keeping with this change, the required subjects for admission to University have also become considerably more flexible in recent years.

Individuality has also been encouraged by the elimination of external grade 13 examinations. Teachers can now modify their courses to suit the interests and needs of their students without risking their chances on final examinations based on a Province-wide syllabus.

We have been aware of problems resulting from the introduction of the credit system but we have taken measures to combat them. In some schools, students can take courses below their true grade level; for example, a seventeen year old gets the same credit for grade 10 Auto Mechanics as he does for grade 12 Mathematics. Unless the school has a good Guidance Department, students do not select the necessary prerequisite subjects for courses that they may require for University admission. Also the wide choice of subjects can easily result in a rather narrow or specialized programme at too early an age.

Two main improvements have resulted from the sensible application of the credit system: first, the elimination of the weak student from subjects that are really too difficult for him and second, the student, with the advice of his teachers, takes a part in selecting the details of his academic programme rather than having all the decisions made in Ministry of Education offices in distant cities.

Parents' Notes

Mr. C. Malim Harding of Toronto, Ontario, father of C. M. Victor (66) has been elected a director of Canadian Corporate Management Company Limited.

Mrs. W. H. Lind of Toronto, Ontario, wife of W. H. Lind (33) and mother of Philip B. (61) and Geoffrey W. (71) has been elected president of the Garden Club of Toronto.

Mr. F. J. E. Lockhart of Toronto, Ont., father of Frederick J. D. (60), Robert J. (65) and W. P. 'Bud' (78) has been elected chairman of the board of governors of the Canadian Association for Latin America, an association made up of members of corporations trading with Latin America.

Dr. S. V. Railton of Port Colborne, Ontario, father of Dr. Richard H. (49) and James V. (65) was re-elected as the Liberal candidate in the riding of Welland in the recent federal election.

Mr. D. G. Willmot (Board of Governors) and father of Michael L. (61) and David S. (68) has recently been elected chairman of the board of The Molson Companies Limited. He was previously deputy chairman.

Class Of 1967

Forty-seven members of the graduating class of 1967 contributed $1.00 each toward the purchase of a mug.

This was to be awarded to the seventh member of the class (of those contributing) to be married.

Brian Deeks, who served as year secretary and custodian of the funds, has informed Tiger that the class has been unable to determine who is the winner.

As a result of this, the $47.00 has been given to The Ridley College Foundation as a gift from the class.

(We are sorry you were not able to determine a winner. Thank you class of '67 very much for contributing these funds to the Foundation—Editor.)

Your Foundation Reports on Annual Giving 1973-74

Last year was our second for Annual Giving following the very successful Program for Excellence campaign that has raised over $4,732,000 so far towards its objective of $5,000,000. These funds are being used for badly needed renovations to the physical plant and to increase endowment funds.

Annual Giving provides funds to augment the Scholarship and Bursary programme. It also increases the general revenues of your School and this helps to reduce fee increases to all students. All of this money collected in Annual Giving is spent in the year in which it is given.

Two years ago we began the task of rebuilding Annual Giving which had reached the impressive total of $100,000 before the Program for Excellence campaign.

I am pleased to report that this past year our telethons and mailing campaign raised over $45,000. This compares with only $11,000 raised in 1972-73 and is a great step toward our ultimate objective. It was due to the efforts of our dedicated Branch chairmen and all the Ridleyans who helped out as organizers and canvassers. Even more importantly, it was due to all of you who contributed.

In these days of rising costs due to double-digit inflation, it is essential that your School continue to receive your wholehearted support.

John M. Gould

You will have read elsewhere in this issue of Tiger that enrolment at the School has increased to an all time high this year. As a result, Ridley this year is able to budget for a small surplus in operating costs, before depreciation, following a number of years of deficit financing.

In the pages that follow we express our appreciation by listing all contributors to the School during the past year. You will also find the Branch statistics for Annual Giving compared to those for 1972-73.

We still have a long way to go. I urge all of you who helped Ridley last year to do so again to the best of your ability. I ask all of you who have NOT supported Ridley in recent years, to do so.

Ridley is in good hands. We have a fine Headmaster in Richard Bradley, an excellent faculty, a keen and dedicated Board of Governors, an excellent physical plant, and last but not most important, an all-round educational programme that is second to none in this country.

John M. Gould, Chairman,
Financial Support Committee.
